

October 2021

Upcoming events!

We have two interesting events coming up for you! Between Nov 2-26, the Fall Edition of the 2021 Global Health PhD and Postdoc Writing Retreat will take place. We compiled nine half-day workshops for all PhDs and postdocs in the field of global health, aimed at further improving a wide range of academic skills. Also, Uniting Streams will host a session during the Symposium "Climate Changemakers in Health" on Nov 11. Find out how to register for both events below.

GLOBAL HEALTH PHD AND POSTDOC WRITING RETREAT

Nine half-day workshops

2 - 26 November 2021

Location

Online

Fees

Varying rates* between €150,- and €395,-

Credits

1 ECTS

Information & registration

Apply before 17 October, via:
www.utrechtsummerschool.nl

*Reduced fees apply for participants from LIC/MIC. See website for conditions

This year's fall edition of the Global Health Writing Retreat will (once again!) offer participants the opportunity to improve their academic skills (e.g. writing, scientific communication) and meet other global health PhD candidates, postdocs and/or early-career researchers through a series of online workshops. We had fun during the previous edition and we wanted to provide you another opportunity to join (no matter where you're tuning in from).

middle income countries.

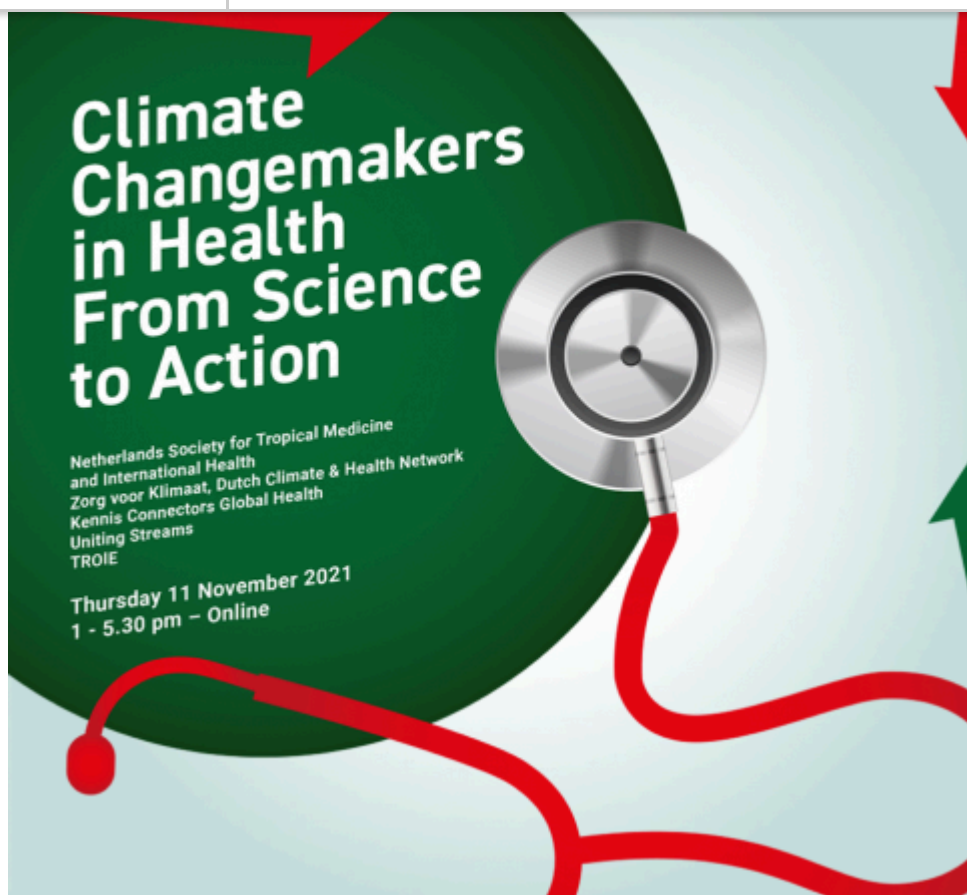

We still have spots available for those who wish to join! Registration is possible through this link.

The series will host a variety of workshops. Find the schedule below:

Date & Time	Workshop
Nov 2	How to give a good (online) scientific presentation
Nov 4	Analytic Storytelling
Nov 9	Academic Writing
Nov 11	Data Visualisation & Poster Design
Nov 16	Communicating science to the general audience
Nov 18	Using Social Media as a Global Health Researcher #SoMe4epi
Nov 18	Social event (TropQuiz, movie night)
Nov 23	Making impact through research (and how to include this in a grant application)
Nov 25	Mentoring workshops 1: Rick Grobbee - how to get published
Nov 25	Mentoring workshops 2: Miriam Sturkeboom - how to present at a grant panel
Nov 25	How to engage communities and patients in your research
Nov 26	Academic CV and cover letter writing

This online event is organised by Julius Global Health, Uniting Streams, and Action on Preeclampsia Ghana, in collaboration with North-West University South Africa, and The Netherlands Society for Tropical Medicine and International Health.

For questions on the registration procedure, please contact us via: info@unitingstreams.org

The devastating effects of climate change on access to clean air, safe water, food and a safe living environment are becoming more visible in our daily lives. Existing health threats are likely to intensify (such as mortality from waterborne and vectorborne diseases), and new health hazards will emerge (such as deaths from heat stress). The impact will mostly be felt in areas with a weak health infrastructure and among vulnerable populations.

Scientific insights will guide the discussion during the symposium and the floor will be given to 'changemakers' in health. In addition, several breakout sessions will give voice to pioneers in sustainability in the Dutch Health Care system.

Uniting Streams will co-host a session called "Changemakers in research" providing an overview of current research projects on the mutual relation between climate and health.

More info & registration

Subscribe

Past Issues

Translate ▼

view this email in your browser

Copyright © 2021 Uniting Streams, All rights reserved.

Want to change how you receive these emails?

You can update your preferences or unsubscribe from this list.

